

Arizona, like most other states, requires all motor vehicles to be insured. With more than 7 million vehicles on Arizona roads at any given time, liability coverage is one of the most important aspects of auto insurance. The attorneys in Jones, Skelton & Hochuli's Automobile Liability Defense Group defend issuers and policyholders against all types of liability claims and lawsuits.

Our experienced attorneys successfully represent carriers who provide automobile insurance coverage and their insureds, self-insured corporations, municipalities and rental companies, which requires a unique level of specialization. We work diligently to stay ahead of the frequent changes in the law and receive extensive continuing education in liability matters, including bad faith claims and alternative dispute resolution techniques designed to help bring about the most advantageous results for our clients.

With decades of experience in this area, our team is able to resolve our clients' liability issues expeditiously and effectively.

We will handle:

- Liability litigation
- Damages litigation
- Uninsured and underinsured motorist claims
- Coverage issues
- Declaratory judgement actions
- Interpleader actions
- Low-impact and causation
- Bad faith claims
