

Our highly-skilled alternative dispute resolution (ADR) attorneys assist home-owner associations (HOA's) in serving the needs of their residents while protecting the community as a whole. We draw upon decades of experience advocating on behalf of property-owner organizations, including condominium and other community associations, before courts in Arizona, making us uniquely qualified to assist HOA's in resolving disputes with their residents. Our ADR team is dedicated to working with HOA's to reach cost-effective solutions to the legal issues facing HOA's, so they can focus on serving their customers and preserving the value of residential communities.
