Meet Gage Eisenbeis, a versatile new associate attorney with a unique blend of scientific acumen and legal expertise. He graduated with a B.S. in Molecular Neuroscience from North Central College in Naperville, Illinois, where he not only excelled academically but was also actively involved in extracurricular activities. As a member of the Mock Trial Team, a swim team member, and a participant in the Student Athletic Association Council, he showcased his leadership skills and commitment to his community.

Building on his strong academic foundation, Gage furthered his legal education by earning his J.D. from Vermont Law School in May 2024 with a concentration in Business Law. He made his mark by serving as the President of the Business Law Society, and by competing in the National Trial Competition, where he remained undefeated in the preliminary rounds.

During his time in law school, Gage gained practical experience through internships at two local law firms, refining his understanding of legal practice. Additionally, as a Student Clinician at the South Royalty Legal Clinic, he delved into real-world legal issues affecting veterans and low-income clients, showcasing his commitment to social justice and advocacy.

Outside of his legal endeavors, Gage finds joy in community service activities and weightlifting, highlighting a passion for giving back to society and maintaining a healthy lifestyle. With his diverse background and multifaceted skill set, Gage is poised to make a meaningful impact on behalf of our clients in the Utah office.
